The higher the technology the more important the training. EganSystem, effective visual communication shipped within hours.

Simplicity and function reign throughout the EganSystem. The entire EganSystem has been carefully designed, engineered and tested to provide the highest level of function, appearance and safety. The unique design of the track and the corner mounting blocks allow the panel to lie flat against the wall and prevents components from being accidentally knocked off the track.

For even greater flexibility, Egan panels are reversible with a porcelain writing surface on one side and either another porcelain surface or a fabric-covered tackable surface on the other. In stock components are available in a Putty or Charcoal finish.
